

LRAN Website and Email List Redesign

Posted on April 25, 2014 by Rosemary Feurer

Dear Friends,

We are pleased to announce newly redesigned website and listserve for the Labor Research and Action Network, available at <http://lrnetwork.org>. We have been working with the Infrastructure Committee, Workplace Fairness and their vendor Endurtech™ over the last several months to develop the new design for the website and improved listserve.

Access to the new site and listserv will be limited to those who have paid a $25 annual access fee. We will announce the date when this will go into effect. At that time, those who have not paid the annual access fee will no longer have access to the website and listserve. We will make information available about how to pay the fee and ensure access as we get closer to the cutoff date.

Members who were able to log into the old LRAN website will be able to log into the new website using their previous login credentials. Once logged in, please take a moment to verify your account profile information and update your account password by visiting the 'Account Profile' component under the control panel (cPanel) tab within the member backend. <http://lrnetwork.org/members>.

We know there will be many questions about how to use the website, but we hope you find our redesigned website and listserve to be a useful member benefit. Should you have any questions or issues concerning the new site please direct those messages to our new webmaster, Manny Rodrigues, at manny@endurtech.com. You may also contact him directly at 239-961-8285.
