OAH 2020 – Contingent Faculty Workshop, Reduced Registration Fee, and Travel Grants

Posted on November 6, 2019 by Eric Fure-Slocum

Contingent faculty are encouraged to attend a workshop – "Non-Tenure Track Faculty on Teaching" – on April 2, 2020, 6-9pm, at the Organization of American Historians (OAH) conference in Washington, D.C. This workshop, sponsored by the OAH's Committee on Part-Time, Adjunct and Contingent Faculty employment (CPACE), includes a keynote address by Herb Childress, author of The Adjunct Underclass (2019).

Contingent faculty are eligible to apply for travel grants of $500 to attend the OAH conference (April 2-5, 2020). Travel grant applications are due December 2, 2019. A limited number of registration discounts ($10) also are available for the conference. Graduate students are eligible as well for travel grants. Registration for the OAH opens November 4, 2019.
